1821 Women Attend Closing Session Of Cooking School; Countian Wins Refrigerator

Mrs. Mark Deardorff, Fairfield, R. 1, was awarded the grand prize, a $339.95 Kelvinator electric refrigerator, at the closing session of the 23rd annual Gettysburg Times-Cooking School Friday evening in the Hotel Gettysburg annex with a capacity audience of 1821 women. The refrigerator is a "Magic Cycle" defrosting 1953 model, 9.4 cubic feet.

Miss Madehne D. Linehan, New England home economist, who conducted cooking schools in Littlestown and in the South Mountain Fairgrounds Auditorium earlier this month, concluded her final three-day lecture in Gettysburg with a number of appealing recipes and offered suggestions both for the hostess and the housewife.

Something to remember will be the "Swedish rosettes" prepared by Miss Linehan which she called "a real delicacy." She suggested that the rosette iron be wiped and not washed after each using and that it be wrapped in wax paper and be kept in a cool place. The iron, shaped like a flower, is dipped into cold fat and heated after which it is placed in the batter. The rosettes can be served with powdered sugar or syrup.

"Apple Spice Bars" deftly whipped up by the lecturer, can be served with afternoon tea and she suggested the "bacon pin-wheels" as "good for a snack." They can be served with soup or a salad.

Hot as red pepper but cool as a cucumber was the "cucumber horse-radish sauce" described by the speaker. The sauce, a blend of chopped cucumbers, mayonnaise, horse-radish, prepared mustard, salt and red pepper, added zest to her "molded salmon" dish. The chilled salmon, when served with the sauce, added a refreshing note to the summer buffet table.

"Snows Of Alaska" was cooked "south of the border" style by the home economist from Ipswich, Mass., who turned the all American favorite dish into a dish of Old Mexico. Pieces of chicken were browned and placed in a pan of rice, seasoned with chopped onions and peppers, chili powder, salt and pepper. To this mixture she added canned tomatoes and water.

Miss Linehan's "mille high frosting" heaped in fluffy mounds on her "yellow delicate cake." An original touch was the amber-colored apple jelly which topped the frosting. Miss Linehan suggested a "sprinkling of coconut" as a topping for the frosting for a variation of the jelly dots.

Miss Beverly Morgan, York, a representative of the Metropolitan Edison Company, described the latest electrical appliances offered to the housewife today to make her life less a drudgery. "We can now say goodbye to Blue Monday," she said. "The washers of today do everything for you. There is no more backbreaking drudgery or worrying about rain or train soot on the clothes. The clothes are clean and dry when they come from the dryer. . . and with the new water heaters, we can have all the hot water we want. It is heated automatically and is completely safe."

Lecturer To Return
In discussing electric ranges, Miss Morgan declared that "Grandma depended on luck to make her cake turn out well. Today our luck is in having these new electric ranges. . ."

Carl A. Baum of The Gettysburg Times extended appreciation to Miss Linehan for her cooperation in coming to Gettysburg to conduct the cooking schools and announced that she will return next year for another cooking series.

Express Appreciation
Mr. Baum also thanked Mrs. Ann Gregory, who assisted Miss Linehan throughout the schools; Mrs. M. Elizabeth Wible and Miss Beverly Morgan, representatives of the Metropolitan Edison Company, and Miss Joan Hughes of Gettysburg, who participated in the school. He extended thanks to the audience "whose participation in the cooking schools," he said, "was the main reason for continuing the annual affairs. Miss Linehan thanked all the local merchants who had participated and the audience for its interest in her lectures. She wore an orchid corsage presented to her by Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Craver of the Wayside Flower Shop.

Summer fashions were presented by Tobey's store, Baltimore St., with Nancy Sanders appearing in a yellow and green print flock, emphasizing her slender waistline, with a broad belt. She carried a straw purse and wore smart white gloves. Laura Swope looked appealing in a pink and black summer sheer with a wide black pattern. (Continued On Page 5)

NEW RITUAL TO BE USED MAY 30 BY VET GROUPS

Further plans for the annual Memorial Day services here were made Friday evening at a meeting of the committee in charge held at the GAR Rooms, E. Middle St.

Unable to make a general solicitation before Memorial Day, the committee appointed Dr. Joseph H. Riley and G. Henry Roth to assist Jesse E. Snyder in a canvass of the business section of the town. It also expressed the hope that residents of the town who wish to aid the Memorial Day group send contributions to the treasurer, Jesse E. Snyder, Baltimore St.

Raymond Strohm, parade invitations chairman, reported that among the units to take part in the parade will be the local National Guard unit, equipment from Letternkeny Ordnance Depot, Waynesboro VFW Drum Corps, public and parochial school children, Gettysburg High School Band, Adams County 4-H members, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Y-Teens, the Hanover American Legion Drum Corps, and the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Sons of Veterans and Spanish War Veterans.

The responsive reading, the Gloria Patri, the offering and the offertory prayer will be followed by the hymn, "O Young and Fearless Prophet," the sermon, the hymn, "God of Grace and God of Glory," and the benediction and postlude.

Here And There News Collected At Random

On October 18, 1831, Congress passed a law that regulated the speed of trains with city limits to "a velocity no greater than the walk of a horse, two and one-half miles an hour."

Several States have given the seal of approval to rail transportation on their seals. The District of Columbia depicts on her seal a train; Nebraska has a train of cars leading toward the Rocky Mountains; Nevada's seal sketches a train passing a mountain gorge, with a telegraph line running alongside; and on the reverse side of West Virginia's seal is a train of cars crossing a viaduct on the B&O Railroad in Preston County.

The steepest train ride in the United States and perhaps the steepest in the world is the Mount Beacon Incline Railway in New York state. A cable line, the cars lift tourists 1,540 feet above the Hudson River up the west spur of North Beacon. The average (Please Turn to Page 7)

Fifteen hundred Virginia National Guardsmen, believed to be the first all-southern troops to camp on the battlefield since July 1, 2 and 3, 1863, will encamp on ground over which other Virginians, under General Pickett, charged vainly on the afternoon of July 3, 90 years ago this summer, in an effort to break the Union line at the Battle of Gettysburg.

New Oxford

NEW OXFORD — Harbold's schoolhouse, near Bigmouth, taught by Mrs. Mary Moul Rudisill, Pine Run, recently won the cash prize offered to the Paradise Twp. school having the most parents in attendance at the final meeting of the Paradise Twp. PTA at Eisenhart's schoolhouse, near East Berlin.

In preparation for the exercises to take place May 30 for Memorial Day at the Catholic cemetery east of town, another meeting of the Cemetery Committee of the parish was conducted Monday when the men met with their pastor, the Rev. Philip J. Gergen, at the rectory.

The annual offering by parishioners of the local Catholic Church for the support of young men of the Harrisburg diocese studying for the priesthood will be received, Pentecost Sunday. The day will also be set aside for special prayer for vocations to the priesthood, at the request of Bishop Leech.

The local branch, National Council of Catholic Women, are preparing for a public card party and refreshment sale Tuesday evening, May 26, at the parochial hall for the benefit of the church.

A special registration for those who will begin the first grade work of the local parochial school in September was conducted Thursday afternoon in the school hall, when parents and relatives brought the children to meet the Sisters of Mercy who teach there.

The Always Faithful Class of the First Lutheran Church School met at the church rooms Wednesday with Mrs. Roy Roland and Mrs. Selon Dockey as hostesses, and Mrs. John Budd as leader of the business session.

Families of the local Catholic parish are planning to spend Sunday at Emmitsburg to attend the annual pilgrimage to the shrine of Mother Seton, Sister of Charity who founded the school for girls there and whose tomb is on the grounds.

daughters, Linda, Carol Jean and Kathy, who have been residing on the former Forbes farm, near Dover which they bought last summer, are preparing to leave this area for Pittsburgh because of Mr. Otto's recent business transfer. Mrs. Otto has been driving parochial school children to the Paradise Catholic parish school for most of the time since the family came here from Connecticut early in 1949. The Ottos lived in East Berlin for three years before going to the Dover section.

Another meeting was conducted May 21, and still another is scheduled for May for the purpose of furthering the new project of members of Trinity Lutheran church to organize boys between the ages of eight and 10 years into a Cub Pack. There has been no Boy Scout troop here for some time, so the church members are urging parents to encourage their youngsters to join the new organization.

A son was born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wolf who are residing on the R. 3 farm formerly the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wolf. Mrs. Dale Wolf was formerly Miss Louise Ruppert.

Members of the Paradise Twp. PTA recently represented their group at the annual spring conference of York County Council of Parent-Teachers' association in St. John's Episcopal church, York, when the state chairman, Mrs. George Ritter, was present.

Lester Bollinger, West York, who was born on Locust St. here, has purchased the building, stock and business of a large York stationery and office equipment store, and has now added a line of modern home appliances under the new name of White Rose Appliance Store.

Provided a large enough teaching staff can be obtained, the annual Daily Vacation Bible School will be conducted here at the local high school building and Zwingli Reformed church hall for all school age and pre-school children of the area, beginning Monday morning, June 1, and closing Friday morning, June 12. There will be sessions each morning from 9 to 11.

Members of Trinity Lutheran church who have cars are asked to provide transportation to others who wish to spend Sunday, June 28, at the Tressler Lutheran orphanage, Loysville, to attend an anniversary program of the home and also to make their annual visit to the institution.

Diocesan envelopes have been distributed to members of Paradise Catholic church and will be gathered Pentecost Sunday, May 24, for the support of young men studying for the Roman Catholic priesthood from the Harrisburg diocese. Nine of these young men, educated and supported by such offerings in the past, are to be ordained at the Harrisburg cathedral May 30, and the bishop has extended an invitation to local parishioners to witness the ceremony.

Swisher, of the Father Corby Council of the P.C.B.L. for their work in forming the two councils of St. Francis Xavier parish. The Rev. Father Stock gave a resume of the work done by the council.

Miss Mary Ramer, one of the charter members, acted as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Ralph Menchey, present president of the council, gave an address of welcome. "The Chanters," a musical group including Miss Marie Robinson, Mrs. Marie McGlaughlin, Mrs. Noel Flynn, Mrs. Charles Myers, Miss Madolyn Culp and Miss Mary Clara Myers, sang a number of songs during the program. Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

TRUE WEALTH
Wealth is of the spirit more than of the purse.
Than lack of thought for others, no poverty is worse.
Who would be just a rich man, that purpose only heed
May end his life a millionaire, and still be poor indeed.

Life offers countless assets for all to seek and gain.
Though good are gold and silver; alone, they cheap remain.
The miser gets and hoards them, but useless here is he,
And useless stays his money until death sets it free.

The poverty of spirit springs from the selfish mind
That finds no cause or reason to others to be kind.
It gains the wealth of money as wealth is reckoned here,
But counts the cost of friendship and men's esteem too dear.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

RELIGIOUS ARMAMENT
What the free world needs, far more than lavish expenditure for guns, planes, bombs, and ammunition tuned to total war, is a religious armament—a total dedication of its people to the ways of peace by putting their trust in Almighty God. Said President Eisenhower: "You can't explain free government in any other terms than religious." He stated that our "Founding Fathers had to make their revolutionary experiment make sense."

The American Republic has as its cornerstone, in its Bill of Rights, the Freedom of Worship. Those far-seeing founders knew that they were about. They put down, in black and white, religious worship as an essential and inalienable right, part and parcel as an inheritance to free men. Communism bitterly and scoffingly denies all this.

George Washington believed in the religious armament of men and women. So did Lincoln. And so do President Eisenhower and Winston Churchill. The mighty mind of Daniel Webster was not too mighty to exclaim humbly during the last moments of his life, "Lord, I believe; held Thou my unbelief." The greatest leaders of the world have been religious men and women.

I understand that there is a "Prayer Room" in the building of the United Nations. But why are its sessions not opened with a prayer? Religion is not a sectarian thing. It is a universal inheritance, born of the soul. It's a contact with God, the Creator. Armed with a religious faith, no man or nation can fail in its destiny.

Prayer to God is a cleansing act. People can't sincerely pray and hate. It's hate that initiates all war. There is nothing "old fashioned" about religion. It's always the newest and most invigorating power that can touch the human heart. When faced with a grave emergency, all men turn to prayer. There must be some reason for such a thing. We need the faith of Enoch, who "walked with God."

TRUCE IS NEAR IN KOREA SAYS SEN. SPARKMAN

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) said today that negotiators are "very near" a truce in Korea—if the Communists actually want an armistice.

Sparkman, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Far Eastern subcommittee and a former United Nations delegate, said in an interview he believes negotiations have reached the "breaking point" in Korea.

"If the Communists want a truce, we are very near to it and we can get it," the Alabama senator declared. "Of course, no one really knows whether the Communists really want an armistice or whether they are just stalling again."

Can End Quickly
He said he feels, however, that if the newest Allied offer now being whipped into final form is rejected by the Reds, the negotiations will be broken off quickly by the U.N. representatives—and he doesn't know what would happen next.

Outside Congress, the Rev. Dr. Daniel A. Poling, prominent Philadelphia Baptist minister, declared that "the time is ripe for a second Munich."

Dr. Poling, in a speech before the All-American Conference to Combat Communism, lit into the British and Prime Minister Churchill.

Assails Churchill
Dr. Poling said Churchill seemed to be suggesting "a peace that would be as evil and infinitely more disastrous than the bastard thing that came out of Munich." He advocated calling off the Korean truce talks and all other "talks with Moscow" unless Russia "begins to square her record with her assertions."

He argued that if the Communists can "keep us talking a little longer, they will take Indochina, Thailand, Burma and Malaya and move directly into India."

Weather Forecast

Extended forecast for the period Saturday, May 23, through Wednesday, May 27:

NEW GADGET REMOVES ASHES

READING, Pa. (AP)—The Pennsylvania Coal Dealers Association has unveiled a gadget designed to eliminate the unpleasant task of digging out the ashes.

A new type truck that employs a vacuum to draw the ashes from an enclosed pit near the furnace was exhibited at the group's 45th annual meeting yesterday.

The ash men would connect two hoses to pipes leading from the ash pit and suck the ashes into the truck.

The delegates elected Ervin M. Spangler of York as president and named Ebner S. Abrams of Easton, as vice president. C. R. Stauffer of Leola was elected treasurer.

Elected directors were Ralph M. Lhr of Harrisburg; Leon Walker of Wilmington, Del.; Charles J. Andrews of Philadelphia, and Hoke Bair of Hanover.

EXECUTIONER RESIGNS POST

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Frank Lee Wilson, who resigned as state executioner after 14 years, said Friday he is willing to instruct a successor when one is named.

Wilson quit Thursday shortly after Dr. John W. Claudy revealed his resignation as warden of Western State Penitentiary and its Rockview Branch at Bellefonte. The man who has executed some 50 persons at Rockview said he remained on the job for the last three years only because Dr. Claudy had asked him.

Paid $350 Cash
Claudy's resignation came about the same time a prison-probing committee released a report criticizing conditions at both Western State and Rockview. Wilson said he believed Dr. Claudy did a competent job, adding:

"Any of us in penitentiary work are doing what the court orders in the manner prescribed by law."

Wilson now will devote his time to a job as superintendent of the Raphael Electric Co. He also will continue to teach night classes in electricity at South High School.

As executioner, Wilson received no fixed salary. He was paid $350 for each execution. He succeeded Robert Elliot of Elmira, N. Y.

CLUBMAN DIES AT 96

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—John Cushing Morris, 96, socially prominent clubman and grandson of the founder of the Norris Locomotive Works, died Thursday in Chestnut Hill Hospital. He was the oldest living alumnus of St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., and the oldest member of the Philadelphia Club.

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Friday announced an agreement with the CIO United Automobile Workers covering modification of the formula affecting wages of about 350,000 GM employees in the nation.

The agreement calls for conversion to the new "revised" Federal Bureau of Labor Standards price index on the new BLS base.

The word "chattel" originally meant what we now know as cattle.

HOUSE MEMBER PREDICTS OK ON MILITARY CUTS

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House Appropriations Committee member today predicted tentative approval without change of the trimmed-down military budget, despite outcries against slashes in Air Force funds.

The prediction, from Rep. Ford (R-Mich.), came on the heels of demands that Secretary of Defense Wilson resign and that generals who have led the Air Force appear for committee questioning.

Ford said he was sure there would be no change and certainly no increases when a subcommittee now considering the Air Force budget sends it on to a higher subcommittee studying the whole $36,100,000,000 military budget.

A member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, Sen. Maybank (D-SC) asked that Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, retiring Air Force chief, and Gen. Carl Spaatz, retired former head, be called for testimony.

Rep. Yorty (D-Calif.), a World War II Air Force intelligence officer, said Wilson should quit as Defense chief, adding in a statement:

"The dollars he worships will not shoot down attacking planes."

Vandenberg, on an official visit to Lima, Peru, sent word to reporters he was too busy to talk to them. However, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, in a copy-righted story, quoted Vandenberg as saying his views were not sought nor offered on cutting the defense budget.

Yankee Lead Cut In Defeat By Bob Porterfield While Red Sox Earn Pair From A's

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sportswriter

After five lean years Bob Porterfield of the Washington Senators is suddenly discovering why they call it the "merry" month of May. For four seasons he was plagued by all kinds of injuries, from a broken finger to burns from an exploding match book.

This season started just like the others—bad. He lost his first three starts. Suddenly, the week that May began, he won a game. He's pitched four times since then and he's won four more games.

Castoff By Yanks In '51
Yesterday's 12-4 victory came against the Yankees who had given them in 1951 they taded two other up on Porterfield to such an extent pitchers with him and tossed in $50,000 cash to get Bob Kuzava.

Until they ran into Porterfield the Yanks had won four in a row. The loss cost them a full game of their American League lead, which now stands at 2½ games, since the Boston Red Sox won a double-header from Philadelphia and took over second place.

The Red Sox won the first game, 3-2, with a pair of runs in the eighth and picked up the second game by the same score although they had to go 12 innings to get it.

Houtteman Beats Sox
Art Houtteman allowed only two hits as the Detroit Tigers handed the Chicago White Sox their fourth straight loss, 7-0. St. Louis at Cleveland was rained out.

In the National League rain cut the scheduled in half. New York won its sixth in a row and its second straight over Brooklyn, 5-1. The St. Louis Cardinals moved within half a game of the league leading Phillies by trimming Cincinnati, 4-2. Philadelphia was rained out at Pittsburgh. So was second place Milwaukee at Chicago.

First Triple Play
The Senator-Yankee game produced the season's first triple play. With runners on first and second in the ninth Irv Noren of the Yanks drove a wicked liner straight at Porterfield. He caught it, fired to first for the second out and the relay to second caught Andy Carey for the third out.

The Giants continued to roll at Brooklyn's expense with Jim Hearn pitching a complete game for the first time since Sept. 17 last year. Hearn drove in two of the New York runs with a double in the fourth and never was in serious trouble.

The Cardinals continued their sensational hitting, getting 11 safeties against the Redlegs for a total of 44 in their last three games. Last night's blows included a home run and a single by Stan Musial.

PARIS—Vic Seixas won an easy third round match and Maureen Connolly scored an impressive victory in her debut in the French International Tennis Championships.

GOLF
FORT WORTH, Tex.—Clayton Heafner shot a four-under-par 66 to take halfway lead with 140 in Colonial Invitation Tournament.

CHATTANOOGA—Polly Riley, Fort Worth, and Bee McWane, Birmingham, advanced to the final of the Women's Southern Amateur Tourney.

RACING
NEW YORK—Grecian Queen ($4.70) won the High Fleet purse at Belmont.

BALTIMORE—Laran ($7.20) captured the Joe H. Palmer purse at Pimlico.

YESTERDAY'S STARS
By The Associated Press
BATTING—Jim Greengrass, Cincinnati Redlegs, got a single, double and triple to boost his season's average to .365, tops in the National League.

PITCHING—Art Houtteman, Detroit Tigers, limited the Chicago White Sox to two hits in winning his second straight complete game.

RUGGED LARK
CRAIGMYLE, Alta. U.S.—A meadow lark that refused to follow its feathered friends south last autumn has fared well since. The bird has become pretty tame on the farm of George Raisbecks.

World tea production is estimated at 1,297,936,000 pounds annually.

After spotting the Glenn L. Bream Garage softball team five runs in the first inning, the VFW came from behind with two runs in the sixth to win a 6-5 victory in the Softball League opener Friday evening.

Clarence Dorn relieved Kime of the Vets in the fourth and yielded only a single by George Fair in the seventh inning. The Vets pulled the game from the fire in the sixth when Hoak singled, Staub walked and Grenier sacrificed. After Roth struck out, Kebil singled in the two runners.

Miscues played a prominent part in the Elks' 9-6 win over the Eagles in the second game. Jay Schmitt of the Elks allowed only four hits. Leach and Marino, Eagles' hurlers, whiffed a total of nine batsmen.

Ed Carbaugh's two-run homer in the first inning for the Elks was a feature of the game.

NATIVE DANCER HAS FUTURE AT STAKE IN RACE

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE (AP)—It's only a matter of hours now until it is settled in the $100,000 added Preakness whether Native Dancer could go on to join the exclusive club of great race horses or the crowd of merely good thoroughbreds.

If one of the six other 3-year-olds colts hangs a second defeat on Alfred G. Vanderbilt's gray charger this afternoon it will just about stop all the talk of immortality.

But an impressive triumph, on the other hand, will make his only defeat in the Kentucky Derby three weeks ago excusable as bad racing luck.

Could Mess Up Picture
By the same token, Dark Star could zoom into the forefront at least in the three-year-old championship race by duplicating his Derby triumph. The Harry Guggenheim colt then would have two legs on the cherished Triple Crown with the Belmont Stakes on June 16 remaining.

A Preakness victory by any one of the five other entries, Mrs. Gordon Guberson's Correspondent, Jim Norris' Jamie K., Bruce Campbell's Ram O'War, Eugene Constant Jr.'s Royal Bay Gem and Ben Whitaker's Tahitian King, will really mess up the year's picture.

All the Preakness entries will carry 126 pounds with $65,200 awaiting the winner. The Columbia Broadcasting System will televise and broadcast the race, which begins at 4:45 p.m. EST.

NOTES ON EXTRA PASTURE

Hogs, sheep, dairy cows, beef cattle, and work stock often need extra or emergency pasture at intervals all summer when regular or permanent pastures are grazed close or hot, dry weather curtails growth. In these cases, as frequently advised in this column, a few acres of special pasturage pay amazing dividends. When not needed for grazing, emergency pasture crops may be utilized for hay, to cut for summer mulching material, and for turning under to improve soils.

Because farmers often find it a difficult decision to choose a suitable crop for this important emergency role, the following general suggestions for selection, planting and management are offered:

Dwarf Essex rape is one of the better non-leguminous crops for emergency pasturage. Growth is extremely rapid and heavy. Rape must be grazed rather heavily to prevent its becoming woody. Hogs in particular find it a tasty and tender crop. It is extremely valuable in periods of drought. Seed may be sown broadcast or in rows any time from late April until well into summer. Because there are dangers of bloating when sheep are turned suddenly into rape pasture, gradual grazing at first is advisable.

Sudan grass is another excellent emergency pasture for dry weather. This grass perhaps exceeds all other non-leguminous crops in total yields. It, too, must be grazed heavily to prevent its top growth from becoming woody and unpalatable. Sudan grass seed may be sown any time from early May until midsummer and may be grazed until just before frosts come. This grass is excellent to grow in small plots to provide material for summer mulching.

Farmers easily overlook the fact that winter rye produces rapid and luxuriant top growth from seed sown almost any time from early spring until early fall. Of course, rye will not produce sustained summer growth like rape or Sudan grass but it does offer a satisfactory crop for emergency needs. Here again is a fine crop to sow on a small area to produce soft material for summer mulching and soil improvement.

Likewise oats or wheat may be pressed into service in extra pasture production. In long-range planning for emergency summer pasture, alfalfa leads the list of durable, heavy-producing, drought-resisting crops.

PROF. HERR IS WIDELY KNOWN IN READER FIELD

The son-in-law of former Adams County Register and Recorder Winfield G. Horner, late of Gettysburg R. D., is becoming well known as a reading specialist.

Prof. A. B. Herr, director of studies at the Lakemont Academy, is author of one of the articles in the book, "The Wonderful World of Books," recently put on sale by joint sponsorship of book publishers and numerous national organizations. He was also quoted by the Elmira Sunday Telegraph in a recent feature article on reading.

For "The Wonderful World of Books," Professor Herr wrote the chapter "A Teacher Looks at Reading." Other contributors to the book include Bennett Cerf, Senator Lister Hill of Alabama, the late Fulton Oursler, Carl Solbert, editor of Time Magazine, and other leaders in the field of literature.

Wife Formerly Lived Here

In its feature article the Elmira newspaper quoted Professor Herr as saying: "In these days of hectic living and fast travel, reading becomes a field more and more important and should be constantly kept up throughout our lives."

The article continues: "Herr advises all to continue reading out loud at home to both the adult and child members of the household. 'We do not get too old to listen to a good story teller.'"

"Early reading to children is a stimulating primary channel of education. Through intelligent reading your children will be in greater readiness for other intellectual endeavors."

"Reading problems are a result of poor elementary school training, to a large extent, but the fault does not all lie with the elementary schools. Secondary schools generally do less to individualize than do most elementary schools. We try to teach the whole group at the same level instead of giving individualized instruction. We do find students who need 14 years instead of 12. One of the curses of parents is to compare their children with the children down the street. Some develop faster physically than others and the same is true intellectually."

Prof. Herr is married to the former Jeannette Horner of Gettysburg.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower signed the offshore oil lands bill Friday with a declaration that "recognizing the states' claim to these lands in keeping with basic principles of honesty and fair play." Attending the ceremony at the White House were more than two score members of Congress.

In hot weather sulphur may cause injury to tender foliage, especially if it is applied when the temperature is extremely high.

Nicotine sulphate (Black Leaf 40) applied as a spray in soapy water will kill many of the mites if they are directly coated with the spray. A fresh nicotine dust is likewise effective when applied on a day when the air is still and the temperature is above 70 degrees F.

Superfine sulphur applications are recommended especially for strawberry growers when their plants become infested by red spiders.

Phlox growers report benefits from fresh wood ashes into the soil around the plants about the time growth starts.

One of the newer control remedies is a derris-sulfonated castor oil spray sold under trade names. It should be mixed and used according to the manufacturer's directions.

Several readers have reported in recent years good results in red spider combat efforts from a spray of fresh pyrethrum.

Riding with Russell

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
by FREDERICK C. RUSSELL
Member S.A.E.

Watching someone else parking his car is an effective way to get rid of your inferiority complex.

Gone With The Duster

More and more we are getting away from the simpler methods for checking our cars' behavior. It is resulting in a lot more accuracy in diagnosis and servicing, but we never realize how far we have progressed until we think back over some of the "methods" that are no longer tolerated. Do you remember when many of us checked valve tappet clearance with a visiting card? The rule was to set tappets to its thickness. We used dimes for checking spark plugs gapping and frequently got into trouble because we didn't use a thin enough dime. Hill climbing and braking performance was judged by the "seat of the pants" methods as contrasted with today's use of performance meters. We have come a long way, but that device which rests on our shoulders still is the most essential tool of all. In fact, it has to be sharper than ever to make use of the newer pieces of service equipment.

Adds Up To Carbon

One of the penalties for too high oil pressure is increased accumulation of carbon. Usually excessive pressure is regarded as merely causing high oil consumption. What happens is that as the excess of oil is tossed off the connecting rod bearing to the cylinder walls it is inclined to be drawn into the cylinders where it burns and leaves carbon deposits. It is especially unwise to increase oil pressure with a badly worn engine unless this is done by replacing bearing inserts and using new rings. Pressure increase from a new pump alone, or a stiffer relief valve spring, merely sends increased amounts of oil to the cylinder walls.

Carbon Affects Plugs

Speaking of carbon reminds me to mention as simple fact that is widely overlooked these busy days. Carbon has a marked heating effect on the engine, not only because it raises compression but also because it glows and disturbs firing by causing preignition. The effect of this on the efficiency of the spark plugs is most unfavorable. Plug points come nearer the red hot particles of carbon. Points operate hotter, and if the plugs already are a hot type not only will there be increased erosion of the points but also more preignition. This will often be evidenced by backfiring through the carburetor when the car is climbing a hill.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"Over the years I have learned to take car owners too seriously and to rely on my own judgment, but I still wish motorists would make it a rule not to tell me what they think is wrong with their cars. Just tell me how the car behaves and leave the conclusions to me or to my associates or competitors."

"When an owner starts expressing his views he is very apt to throw the service man way off the course. Recently an owner told me that he thought the trouble was due to the clutch slipping. That wasn't the right diagnosis at all but somehow I couldn't get the idea out of my mind. It was clearly a case of late ignition timing, but we lost fifteen minutes testing the clutch to prove that it wasn't at fault."

Handy In A Pinch

When the horns take to blowing of their own accord these days the trouble may be in the relay where the points have stuck together. Make it a rule, therefore, to know where the relay is located and if there is a suspicion that it is on a rampage try the simple plan of thumping it with your clenched fist. Later have the points cleaned.

At this time of year especially, when temperatures are rising, it is important not to be trapped into thinking that timing is too far advanced just because the engine pings sharply. This situation can, of course, be a tip-off of incorrect timing or the use of low octane gasoline, but the engine would ping regardless of other conditions if it happened to be operating too hot. Before tampering with timing it is always a good idea to check temperatures carefully and give the cooling system the attention it needs if operation is at a too high level. This, of course, goes well beyond the actual cooling system, involving as it does the possibility of a slipping clutch, need for more fluid in the automatic transmission or dragging of the brakes.

Keep These In Mind

If the oil pump fails to prime itself after a motor overhaul you can use the vacuum windshield wiper line to do the priming. The line should be connected temporarily to one of the discharge oil lines.

A good way to study a tire's tread for evidences of high and low spots, oddities in wear, etc., is to drive over some sand or loose dry dirt. "Dusting" the tires in this way more quickly shown up the irregularities.

Now Meet "Windwhip"

Last winter I mentioned an important factor known as "wind-whip" the adverse effect of cold winds on operation of the engine and its various accessories. Now we are hearing a lot about "wind-whip" largely because there are so many more lighter cars on the highways. Especially on super-highways where there are wide open spaces wind is quite a factor at higher speeds, and many drivers are beginning to complain about their cars not keeping to a true course. Windwhip is one of the consequences of trying to pit a small vehicle.

Watch This In Testing

If you are going to test the brakes to see if they have enough clearance between the shoes and drums make sure to roll the car when the brakes are cold. Start on a slight incline and see if the car begins rolling and picks up speed. If the brakes are well warmed up when you make the test it won't give you the facts because heat will cause the drums to expand away from the shoes.

Foresee Sliding Doors

The next important change in automobiles probably will be in the doors which in their present form have become monstrosities. Currently they are too wide, much too heavy and an incredible waste of space. Doors should slide rather than swing open. Sliding puts an end to the marring of cars left at parking lots. It lessens the risk of small children opening the doors and tumbling out. It eliminates the hazard of opening a wide door into moving traffic.

Windows in sliding doors would automatically drop down before opening action begins. Front doors would slide into the front fender area; rear doors sliding back into the sides of the luggage compartment.

Q. Does a car have more acceleration in the lower speed ranges than at high speed? G. L. M.

A. The flash acceleration is in the lower speeds. If you think this is simply your imagination at work you can prove things to your satisfaction by using a performance meter on the car.

Q. How often should rear wheel bearings be replaced, if they are of the self-lubricated type? Wm. H.

A. Here we go again. The answer is that it all depends. I have seen them go well above 50,000 miles without need for replacing. You will know when a bearing is going by a growling noise in the rear.

Q. After taking a long trip recently I noticed that the treads of the front tires were worn cupped. Prior to this trip the tires had run 10,000 miles without any evidence of such wear. I did not drive especially fast. Roads were good all the way. T. J. N.

A. This wear was due to the adverse caster effect on the front end, due to the heavy loading of the car and the consequent rear end sag. One way to counteract this sag to some extent is to carry the rear tires at slightly higher pressures.

Q. Does wind resistance double as the car's speed is doubled? R. H. F.

A. No. Such resistance increases as the square of the speed.

Q. For several mornings the engine of my car has cranked in a most peculiar way. In spite of the fact that the weather has not been unfavorable to cranking the starting motor first acts like it had struck a stone wall. On the second trial it does a little better. Then, quite suddenly, it cranks as if nothing had happened. I had the starting motor serviced about a year ago. J. J. McN.

A. This is a sign that water is leaking into one of the cylinders. Since the water can't be compressed your first effort to crank puts sufficient pressure on the water to start driving it down past the rings. On the second attempt some of the water goes out the exhaust valve of the affected piston as soon as the water is out the engine cranks normally.

Q. What is your opinion of side-draft carburetion? L. M. N.

A. For the benefit of those who do not know what this means let me add that gas can be fed to the engine either up from the carburetor to the intake manifold, down from the carburetor to the manifold or sideways. If you note that the cars of the future are becoming flattened you will see why I believe that the side-draft system will become something of a must. Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him at 254 Fern St., West Hartford 7, Conn., and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply. There is no charge.

GEN. C. C. CURTIS TO HEAD STATE'S 28TH DIVISION

HARRISBURG (AP)—Officers of the newly-reactivated 28th Infantry Division of the Pennsylvania National Guard today faced the tremendous task of reorganizing the unit that was federalized three years ago.

Gov. John S. Fine announced reactivation of the unit yesterday and appointed Maj. Gen. Charles C. Curtis, of Allentown, as commanding general. Also appointed were Brig. Gen. Henry K. Pluck, Somerset, as assistant division commander, and Brig. Gen. William S. Bailey, Harrisburg, as division artillery commander.

Reactivation of the famed Commonwealth division puts into existence two 28th divisions. The other is the new federalized unit still on occupation duty in Germany. The designation "28th" will be released when the regular army replaces the federalized body.

State Adjutant General Frank A. Weber has set a goal of 17,500 officers and men for the Pennsylvania division.

To Hold Conferences
The three new top-level officers are planning to hold organizational conferences in each regimental and battalion area. Invited to these meetings will be former officers and enlisted men of the division. Weber indicated that first organizational priority would go to division and subordinate headquarters. Following that, the various units—infantry battalions, medical

Mrs. Teillard was to have been a guest at the ceremonies but she died January 19 at the age of 96. Taps will be played for her during the unveiling.

Susie McClain, 93, of Baltimore, who lived in half of the Jennie Wade house in Gettysburg during the battle and dedication ceremony at the National Cemetery. She will be accompanied by her niece and friends.

Mrs. Eugene Dehand Sangstad, 81-year-old daughter of the late Congressman Dehand of Illinois, a neighbor of the Lincoln family in Springfield, Mrs. Sangstad's painting, "Lincoln at the Battle of Fort Stevens," was presented to the Lincoln Museum in Washington this year.

Photographic Exhibit
Attending the opening of the Brady photographic exhibit will be (a) Ulysses S. Grant III, grandson of President Grant. The display, along with other Lincolnian exhibits, will appear at the Sequoyia Community building next Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Location of the new 28th units will remain the same wherever possible. Local armories throughout the Commonwealth have been revamped for the reactivation. Weber also reported that quantities of ordnance, trucks, uniforms and accoutrements have been stockpiled for issue. This will be allocated as soon as the division receives federal recognition. The Pennsylvania National Guard has about 7,000 in non-28th ground forces and 2,500 in its air wing.

WANT NAMES OF
2 BRITISH SHIPS
CARRYING REDS

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-Sd.) said today he will demand that the Eisenhower administration take off the "blinders on ourselves" and reveal the names of British ships alleged to have transported Chinese Communist troops.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) promptly announced he will back Mundt's move to demand cancellation of an order making the ship names an official secret.

Both are members of the Senate investigations subcommittee which heard testimony Wednesday that two or more British-owned ships were used as troop transports along the China Coast and may still be so used.

No Demand On Ike
The subcommittee, which has announced sending a demand to Eisenhower that he state publicly what he thinks of this, said last night such a demand was never sent and may never be.

Francis D. Flanagan, subcommittee chief counsel, confirmed reports that the letter had been withheld on orders from Chairman McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Flanagan, when told that word had leaked out that the White House letter was being withheld, said: "Sen. McCarthy wants to discuss it further with the subcommittee."

Denied By Company
In testimony Wednesday, the Wheelock Marden Company of Hong Kong was mentioned as operator of at least one ship which allegedly carried Red China troops. The company has denied the charge and the British government has called for a transcript of the testimony.

Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash) lashed out at Britain as "the villain in the piece" in Red China trade during a Maritime Day address at Los Angeles yesterday.

The British Comment
"Ships of foreign nations which we consider allies today seem more eager to trade with our Communist enemies than to trade with us," Magnuson said.

In London, a Foreign Office representative remarked it was difficult "to comment on a report that unidentified ships of unknown tonnage carried unspecified numbers of so-called troops at a date not known between unstated ports."

CHANGE CHURCH
SUPPORT PLAN

BLOOMSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Radical revision of apportionment for financial support from member churches has been approved by the central Pennsylvania Conference of the Methodist Church.

Henceforth, the conference decreed yesterday, the amount of payments by member churches will be based one-third on membership, one-half on the amount of the individual church's expenditures, and the balance on benevolent contributions—not including the Wesley Foundation Development, special gifts to work service, White Cross and college.

Current church apportionment has been based entirely on pastors' salaries.

The Methodists also approved a change in salary schedules. They added a grant of $50 for each additional church served regularly.

like this in my life."
In a letter dated May 15, the following day, Cole says: "We were ordered back to the base this evening so we could all get some rest. We have to report tomorrow, and I don't know whether we will go into town or not. It rained again today and I guess it is better to stay a little cool. . . . You can't imagine what it is like until you have been around it."

Helped Rescue Woman
"We took out five more dead this afternoon and one man was really crushed. We had to go down about 20 or 30 feet through mud and brick to get him out. I guess he didn't know what hit him."

"Monday night my buddies and I were giving oxygen to a 35-year-old woman who was pinned between the second and third floor. We had to crawl in a little opening and hack through the debris to get to her, while they were digging down from the top. We gave her oxygen and kept her company from 8 p.m. until 3 a.m., when we were relieved. They finally got her out alive at 7 o'clock in the morning."

"I was so cramped from that little hole that I don't see how she wasn't killed when that all caved in. I guess she was just lucky. They are getting things pretty well cleaned up now, but there are still a lot of people homeless."

Airman Cole enclosed with his letters tear sheets of Waco newspapers giving accounts of the tornado and pictures of the widespread destruction.
